WE ARE:

- A dynamic DUO of multiple-award-winning family performers and teachers who finesse exhilarating, audience participation experiences.
- Two BIG HEARTS, curating and inspiring sing-along, action-along experiences for KID HEARTS, helping children feel listened to, and gloriously reminded that their voice matters...
- Offering CURRICULUM-CONNECTED SONGS & STORIES, + songwriting/recording workshops that ignite compassion, creativity and 'live' celebration of the various wealths that we share! Concerts are tailored to your target themes and vision.
- Musical content ranges from poignant to excitedly anthemic... inspiring learning success, enviro-stewardship/action, and local/global citizenship. Student volunteers may even get to wear animal costumes for enviro-leadership!

“Peter and Remy captivate kids of all ages and they even got the teachers to move a little bit! Great fun to watch and valuable messages for all.”

~ Ted Hupe, Principal, Holy Family School

ABOUT THE ENVIROSONGSTERS:

Peter Lenton and Remy Rodden have shared stages at various times since the 1990's, finding that combining their unique talents and perspectives create an irresistible synergy for young learners. In 2019, they became the Partners in Rhyme to tour Yukon schools and festivals, and planned to expand further as The EnviroSongsters. But the pandemic hit, and the plans were put on hold...until now.

PETER, aka Peter Puffins Whale Tales, The Alberta-based Lenton was originally a decorated teacher and curriculum specialist. His students responded to his incredible energy with such enthusiasm, that he was inspired to take his singing and guitar playing to the stage full-time and never looked back. Some 20 years later, he is always evolving his storytelling skills, passion for the environment, and unflagging belief in children merging it all together into something fresh and inviting.

Peter has become a legendary artist in kids' concert series and festival circuits. He was awarded a 2011 Juno for Best Children's Album.

REMY, aka the "envirosinger," is a Yukon-based environmental educator and singer-songwriter who's been inspiring kids and adults alike for over 30 years. Known for his catchy, eco-friendly tunes, Remy combines music and nature to help people groove their way to greener living. From running wilderness camps to leading youth programs across the Yukon he's dedicated his career to fostering a love for the environment. Most recently, he finished a four-year stint teaching White River First Nation kids in Canada's most westerly community.

With three albums and multiple Best Kids' Album nominations under his belt, Remy's music has earned him fans worldwide—even in Antarctica!

STYLE OF MUSIC

Fun, nature-inspired, interactive eco-folk for children and families and all who need to love and care for the Earth (that means everyone). Lots of guided movement, singing, learning, props, costumes – with songs and pre- and post-activities that complement the BC and AB curriculums and are deeply influenced by First Nations ways of knowing and being.
